

Maryland charging forward with electric vehicles

By the end of summer 2011, electric vehicle owners in Maryland and D.C. will be able to charge using at least 80 charging stations at more than 40 different locations, from Charles to Frederick counties and all along the I-95 corridor.

As the State's growing electric vehicle infrastructure comes online, Maryland continues to advance our innovation economy by promoting clean, renewable energy and cost-saving investments in energy efficiency.
